MARCH PROGRAM

The UNM Retiree Association invites you to

CHINA: THE AIM OF THE CORONADO EXPEDITION

Wednesday, MARCH 18
2 p.m.

South Campus Park Auditorium
800 Bradbury SE
(See Map Attached)

Members of the 16th century expedition and its backers fully expected to reach China, a land of material wealth, within a matter of a few months traveling by land northwest from Mexico City. Their goal was an impossible one.

Dr. Richard and Shirly Cushing Flint, research associates at the UNM Latin American and Iberian Institute, are the leading authorities on the Coronado Expedition, investigating primary documentary sources in Mexico and Spain and archaeological sites in the Southwest for more than 40 years.

Sometimes there is no predicting what will draw someone into their life's work. The Flints' investigation of the expedition began in 1980 when they became intrigued by an old footnote. Those pesky footnotes!

Free parking available in structure marked . See map for details.
